

Medieval Stonemasons Activity

The medieval stonemason was an architect, an engineer, and a craftsman all in one. Like stonemasonry linked various skills, a crossword puzzle links words by shared letters. Using all that you've learned about medieval stonemasons, complete the crossword puzzle!

ACROSS

1. Stonemasons jobs were very important because they worked to build religious buildings such as this
2. Monastery's were often built of stone for these religious members of medieval society (plural form)
3. The walls of Glencairn are built of this type of stone
4. Medieval stonemasons would have helped to construct this type of protective building for kings and nobility

DOWN

1. This tool would be used to make curved lines
2. This architectural element helps to support high ceilings
3. An association of stonemasons that formed to regulate the trade and help each other
4. To sculpt stone, you need a hammer and _____

